- (b) In the event of insolvency of the issuer of a security or the counterparty to a transaction, you may experience delay in liquidating your investment and may suffer losses, including a decline in the value of your investment. Furthermore, the insolvency of the issuer of a security or the counterparty to a transaction may lead to positions being liquidated or closed out without your consent.

9.2 Electronic Trading

- (a) Trading facilities are supported by computer-based component systems for the order-routing, execution, matching, registration or clearing of trades. As with all facilities and computer systems, you will be exposed to risks associated with the systems including the failure of hardware and software, risks of any defect, deficiency or malfunction in, and /or any breakdown, disruption or failure of any telecommunications, computer or other electronic equipment or system associated with such electronic system, loss of data or information that may occur due to any cause whatsoever. The result of any system failure may be that your order is either not executed according to instructions or is not executed at all.
- (b) You should also be aware that the internet is not a completely reliable transmission medium and there may be delays in service provisions.

9.3 Market Forces

- (a) Your payments or receipts under a transaction will be linked to changes in the financial market or markets which the transaction is linked, and you will be exposed to price, currency exchange, interest rate or other volatility in that market. You may sustain substantial losses on the contract, trade, product or financial investment if the market conditions move against your positions. It is in your interest to fully understand the impact of market movements, the extent of profit or loss you would be exposed to when there is an upward or downward movement in the relevant rates, and the extent of loss if you have to liquidate a position if market conditions move against you. Your position may be liquidated at a loss, and you will be liable for any resulting deficit in your Investment Account with us.

- (b) The price and value of any investment in securities can fluctuate and may fall against your interest. An individual security may experience downward price movements and may become worthless. Any representation of past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance.
- (c) Under certain market conditions, you may find it difficult to liquidate a position, to assess a fair price or assess risk exposure. This can happen, for example, where the market for a transaction is illiquid or where there is a failure in electronic or telecommunications systems, and where there is occurrence of a force majeure event (which shall include without limitation, any form of restriction, moratorium or suspension on trading imposed by an exchange, market or other authority regulating trading in the transactions). This could also happen for unlisted securities where there is no formal market for such securities and are often thinly traded.
